AT WESEL; FIGHT GOES ONRegulars Drive Workers'
Army Across River Executing Double Flank

Paris, March 26.—The German cabinet headed by Premier Gustav Bauer, has resigned, according to a message received here from Berlin today.

WORKMEN'S ARMY USES
ARTILLERY AT WESEL

Buderich, Rhineland Prussia, March 25.—Ebert government troops still held Wesel, across the Rhine, north of this city, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Fighting which had been in progress during the day was seemingly dying away at that hour, and although Wesel is under fire from artillery in the hands of the workers' army, the troops had succeeded in repelling all infantry attacks.

Today's battle opened during the forenoon, when government troops attacked workers' forces which had advanced to within a few hundred yards of the Wesel bridgehead. Moving rapidly to the onslaught the regulars drove the reds south across the Lippe river, and southeast out of Lippe Schloss. In the meantime government artillery opened fire on the workers' headquarters at Lippendorf, and partially destroyed them. Working southward from Lippe Schloss and eastward from Lippendorf, the regulars began a double flank attack which swept the reds back, they being forced to retreat under heavy artillery and machine gun fire. An armored train pushed along toward the bridge across the Lippe river about three and one-half miles from Wesel and kept up a steady fire on the workers.

Many shells fired by the workers' artillery flew during the wildest struggle. One of them struck at the gate of Fort Bluecher on the Belgian bank of the Rhine, and then ricocheted, bursting harmlessly.

EX-KAISER SENDS
FUNDS TO BERLIN

Geneva, March 26.—Former Emperor William of Germany withdrew deposits amounting to 250,000 Swiss francs, from a Zurich bank early in March, it is learned here, and the money is said to have been sent to Berlin just before the attempted reactionary restoration led by Dr. Wolfgang Kaapp and General Luttwitz.

The German mark is now quoted at 10 centimes, and the sum withdrawn from the bank would represent quite a snug fortune in Germany.

WORKERS THREATEN TO DESTROY INDUSTRIES

London, March 26.—Workers' forces entrenched along the Lippe river south and southeast of the city of Wesel, threaten, if they fail to capture Wesel, to destroy all factories and mines in western Germany, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. The news has been received from a source similar to that of the old German army and are issuing official statements.

In last night's communiqué the reds claimed to have captured several villages and to have taken more than 100 prisoners during the day. They say the government troops in western Germany are not taking any action, pending orders from Berlin.

Telegrams from Muenster, filed last night, report severe engagements between government and communist troops on the line from Hamm south to Hagen. Further south in the direction of Cologne and Dueseldorf, there has been fighting and serious conflicts have occurred at Wesel, Rucklinghaus and near Muenster as well as along the Lippe river.

Treatment of men arrested on accusations of complicity in the revolutionary by military authorities at Halle has greatly excited German workers, rendering the situation more critical, it is reported.

CLEAN CITY PROPERLY HOUSED WILL BRING INDUSTRIES SPEAKER SAYSDr. D. Frank Garland Public Welfare Director of Dayton Urges Chamber of Commerce to Look After "Folks" and Industrial Success Will Follow Naturally.

"Folks are what make a town. Folks are the thing you must give the first consideration. Folks are what man your machines, run your factories, build your houses and make your town. Take care of the welfare of the folks and the industries will come. If you have a good, clean, sanitary city with proper housing conditions, proper sewerage, proper recreation facilities, proper churches and good schools, you will find industries clamoring to locate in your town," said Dr. D. Frank Garland, director of public welfare at Dayton in his address at the annual membership dinner of the Chamber of Commerce last night.

The dinner was planned to inaugurate the campaign for an enlarged membership and Dr. Garland spoke from the humanitarian viewpoint, showing that this feature must be given the first consideration in the building of an ideal city.

Dr. Garland was introduced by C. Harrington Davis, the campaign manager, who presided at the meeting. In making the introductory talk Mr. Davis told of the wonderful things accomplished by the city of Dayton in its rebuilding program following the devastation by the flood.

Dr. Garland in his opening remarks complimented Newark upon its organization and referred to the address of Dr. W. Davis, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who had preceded Dr. Garland on the program. He said he admired his "straight from the shoulder talk with punch to it, and if you follow his leadership the Chamber of Commerce will be doing housework, constructive, progressive, social, economic, educational and civic work."

Continuing he said: "You must have a more constructive, progressive city, and unless you do you will find you are eating the dust of other cities, which are making rapid strides ahead of that line. Your city will retrograde instead of progress."

"This is the century of city civilization; last century was the century of rural civilization. It behooves the enterprising city to rebuild, and replan the rural cities. The rural city must consider human life first and then the smokestacks, for smokestacks will come if the humanitarian problem is met."

Dr. Garland then told of the visit to Dayton of representatives of the General Motors corporation and the questions they asked regarding the city relative to locating there.

They asked concerning the health program. What was being done regarding a health program? What was being done in the way of public parks? What was being done to secure playgrounds and recreational centers, nursing facilities? What were the housing facilities? Were there any slums? What disposition was made of sewerage, garbage and ash removal? How were the schools and churches?

"Organize your Chamber of Commerce into a clearing house for the school, the church, the working man, the capitalist, the government and the city and make for human happiness."

Dr. Garland said that the city of Dayton is a wonderful state and a wonderful nation. Put punch and pep behind your efforts. Subscribe and pay, work and pray, and you will have the right kind of a town, and at your gates industries will be knocking, asking for locations.

Dr. Garland stated that the machine had made the city. Three centuries ago countries legislated against the growing city. That was because the work was dependent upon muscle. The speaker then told of the growth of the American cities: how from cities of 100,000 they had grown to the size of New York with six million inhabitants.

Continuing, he said: "Today the world is in chaos. Germany and France are fighting; England is unsettled; Russia is bathed in its own blood; Turkey is in insurrection; Italy, the Czechs, Slovaks and Austria are uncertain. Justice is questioned, and personal rights, individual thought and property rights are being destroyed. This is the time for this country to do clear, clean, straight religious thinking."

Dr. Garland told of the wealth of America. In 1890 the country had seven billion dollars; in 1919 the country turned over in salaries and business 70 billions. "What made this difference? Folks made the difference," he said. "A town is not a city of stones, not a city of smokestacks, but a city of folks. Suppose a plague would sweep the city and kill the inhabitants, what would be its industries and its business? What makes a city great? Folks make a city great. Danger lurks in this period of great riches. Folks were neglected in this great growth. Towns grew like Topsy. In New York in many city blocks smaller than Newark's city blocks are living 5,000 people. To make a city worth while now you must get behind your Chamber of Commerce and think clearly and unselfishly and build the real city and your industries will come."

W. W. Davis, president of the Chamber of Commerce, preceded Dr. Garland. He told the members if they "wanted to dance they would have to pay the fiddler." Many of the subscribers he said had failed to pay their subscription pledges and budgets were made up, where deficits had to be met.

Mr. Davis then outlined the work of the board of directors for the past five months, stating that there had been a delay in getting started and during that interim, the new manager E. D. Leach (Continued on Page 3, Col 1)

KIDNAPPED BOY
FOUND IN HOTEL
MAN GETS AWAYTelephone in Room is Used
By Boy Held Since Wednesday for 25,000 Ransom.

Lexington, March 26.—Paul Little, 12-year-old son of E. R. Little, Lexington capitalist, who has been held for ransom by kidnapers, was found this morning locked in a room of a local hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Little first learned the whereabouts of their son when the latter telephoned his home from the hotel room. He said he had been kept a prisoner there since Wednesday night.

Investigation disclosed that the room had been reserved in advance by a man registered as J. C. Cox of Cincinnati. The frantic parents, overjoyed at news of his safety, hurried to the hotel and took him home.

The boy disappeared from in front of the Lexington postoffice Wednesday afternoon, where he had been seen in conversation with a man. Playmates said the little boy had told them he was to be given a dollar to deliver a box of candy. Soon afterward the father received a note stating that his son, Paul, was being held for ransom. Little would not state positively, but intimated that the amount asked for was $25,000. He declared he would abide by the kidnapers' demands, that he did not mind paying the money, and he only wanted the safe return of his son.

At the appointed hour—7:35 o'clock last night—Little deposited a package containing the ransom money in a Main street garbage can. When he returned a half hour later the package remained intact. Believing the kidnapers failed to show up for fear of being "double-crossed," Little pocketed the money and went home, intending today to seek other means of obtaining his son.

At 7 o'clock this morning the key for the room in which the boy was found was turned in at the hotel desk. At 7:15 Mrs. Little called to the telephone, was overjoyed to hear the voice of her missing son. Nothing has been seen of "Mr. Cox" since he left the hotel at 7 o'clock.

About 7 o'clock this morning the room key was turned in at the desk to Clerk F. J. Berger. At 7:15 a telephone call came from the room for the Little (Continued on Page 3, Col 2)

War in Peru.

Valparaiso, Chile, March 25.—The American Chamber of Commerce here today unanimously registered its disapproval of the terms of the note recently sent to Chile by that government requesting Chile to use all her efforts to prevent a conflict between Peru and Bolivia. It has been declared by the press that the note gave evidences of suspicion that Chile had fostered the differences between Peru and Bolivia.

The action by the chamber, at a meeting this morning took the form of a message to Joseph H. Shea, the American ambassador which read as follows:

"The American note to the Chilean government regarding the difficulties between Peru and Bolivia, as it has appeared in the public press of Chile is grossly erroneous, uncalled for and absolutely contrary to the expressed principles of the American government."

"It has produced a serious injury to American reputation, jeopardized the Chilean friendship always extended to Americans in Chile and has resulted in just and tense protest on the part of Chileans."

"The American Chamber of Commerce, representing large American business in Chile, requests you to transmit the above by cable to the American government with the request that the lamentable situation which has been created be rectified by America."

The message was signed by R. E. Hanna, president of the board of directors of the chamber.

Admiral Plunkett was testifying as to the need for keeping the navy personnel at full strength so men might be adequately trained. He did not go into details as to the Jutland battle and was asked no questions regarding it by the committee.

Admiral Plunkett commanded the great naval battery of 14-inch guns on the western front. He told the committee that he navy was without sufficient men when the war began.

"If we had been up against Germany at the outbreak of the war," he said, "we would have been paying indemnity today and all because we did not have the trained men."

"We didn't have the men because Mr. Daniels wouldn't let us have them and wouldn't let us do anything to get them."

POSTPONE VOTE

Delaware Republicans
Reach Agreement to Delay
Action Until Next Week—May Vote Tuesday.

Dover, Delaware, March 26.—Agreement to postpone voting in the Delaware constitution on the woman's suffrage amendment until next week was reached today by Republican leaders in charge of majorities in both senate and house.

Plans for a senate vote today were abandoned. Next Tuesday was the date tentatively fixed by the Republicans for a vote in the house.

Delay was determined on in a hope of the suffragists to secure further votes in the house, where the present alignment admittedly precludes rejection of the ratification amendment, however in the senate situation was claimed by the suffragist leaders.

The senate judiciary committee today ordered the senate ratification resolution reported on its merits, without recommendation.

Toledo, March 26.—Charles O'Brien, also known as Garrigan of Cleveland, who was shot here yesterday afternoon in a gangster fight in a rooming house and the wound arriving at a hospital. After investigation, the police discount the report that the dead man was a brother of "Smiling Jack" O'Brien, hanged recently in Chicago for the murder of a policeman. It was at first thought that the wounded man came here to avenge himself against the men who gave information against "Smiling Jack," but the police have been unable to trace any relationship between the latter and the dead man.

Four Suspects Held at Sherrodsburg—Fear Violence
by Citizens.

Adena, Ohio, March 26.—The search for the murderers of 11-year-old Frances South, whose body was found in a wood near here last night was continued today by the armed posse of miners which formed shortly after the crime was discovered.

Authorities here said today they believed the posse or other citizens of Adena would make no effort to reach Sherrodsburg, Carroll county, where four negroes are being held as suspects in connection with the killing. Deputy sheriffs at Sherrodsburg, however were making preparations to move the prisoners to Carrollton.

At an early hour this morning the posse of Ramsey near here arrived with a foreigner who is being held as suspect in the case. The crowds, which had been on the streets of Adena all night had disbanded by the time the Ramsey officers reached here and their prisoners were rushed to jail under a special guard.

Another searching party was organized at Adena this afternoon, according to word reaching here, and the main party is headed by Sheriff W. T. Baker. The Adena troop of Boy Scouts took leading places in the searching party. This leads to the belief that Sheriff Baker received clues upon his arrival which implicates someone besides the trio of negroes and Pesus and the white man arrested previously. Deputy Sheriff Baker is expected to reach here tonight that the three negroes and Pesus will be brought to the Jefferson county jail for safe keeping.

REBEL YELL ROUSES
VETERANS IN HOME

Louisville, March 26.—A rebel yell, sounded throughout the confederate home at Pewee Valley, Ky., 18 miles from Louisville, at 6 o'clock last night, was the first alarm of a fire that three hours later had destroyed the institution.

Commanded by Sergeant Gus Head, who during the war was the keeper of John Morgan's mount, the 100 veterans of the home able to walk, filed from the building with utmost precision. Calmly the 100 grays marched at double quick to the hospital building, made liters of cuts and carried 50 invalid comrades to safety in the little stone church near by. Many of the latter, however, became excited and are not expected to survive the shock.

After Sergeant Head in terse manner had called the roll, the men, a majority of whom were members of Morgan's cavalry regiment during the war, sat cross-legged upon the grass and with typical southern stolidism, waited until the smoldering ruins resembled but a hazy glow of days gone by, then trudged slowly to the little church, spread their blankets and slept.

Columbus, March 26.—Dry leaders have practically abandoned hope of obtaining a reversal of the result of Ohio referendum election on the federal prohibition amendment through a recount of votes in approximately one-sixth of the precincts of the state. The result of the election as certified by the secretary of state showed the amendment had been defeated by 470 precincts.

With only 15 contested precincts remaining to be recounted, the wets still retained a majority of 203 votes against ratification. Five wet votes were gained during the recount this forenoon.

Commenting on an outlook, Charles Earhart, special commissioner, representing the dries in the recount at noon today declared it is unlikely that the dries will reduce the wet majority.

James A. White, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League said the dries have "not yet given up hope of a victorious ending." He declared the case was still in the courts and that it would be unwise for him to comment on the outcome of the court's action.

The recount was started more than two months ago on application of dry leaders who charged irregularities and in some cases fraud on the part of election officials. A total of 819 precincts had been recounted up to noon today. Winning is said to be based upon further contest of certain precincts votes in Cleveland, Toledo and Lima. If the entire vote in those precincts is thrown out by the court, the result, it was said, would be a majority of three for ratification.

Should such happen, it is expected the wets will press for a recount in the entire state and especially in the 30 precincts in which they claim corrected results will be in their favor.

NO CHANCE FOR

Tex Rickford Says French
Champion Will Be Busy
Until August—Couldn't Get Ready Then.

New York, March 26.—There is no chance for a world's championship bout in 1920 between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, according to Tex Rickford, one of the foremost bidders for the contest.

The French champion probably will not extend his present visit to the United States, Rickford said today, and he must return to Paris for a bout scheduled in August.

This is sufficient to prevent his appearance against Dempsey this year, the promoter added, explaining that for the international bout to be a financial success, it would have to be held in the open and as Carpentier will be busy until July, he would not have enough time to train before the arrival of cold weather.

EXPERTS SAY FRENCHMEN IS WONDERFUL BOXER

New York, March 26.—Georges Carpentier, champion European heavy-weight boxer, gained a host of American admirers here early today by his display of speed and cleverness in an informal shirt-sleeve sparring exhibition with Max Baer, a former champion of Philadelphia, before a thousand guests, at a dinner of the International Sporting club. It was the French boxer's first exhibition in this country and he was given a rousing ovation.

The "match" of two minute rounds "was staged in a temporary ring erected in the center of the Hotel Commodore ball room. Tex Rickard was referee. The boxers merely removed their coats, vests and collars."

At the outset the Frenchman displayed lightning speed, his shifty footwork and feinting being very clever. Major Biddle, an amateur boxer of considerable skill scarcely landed a blow. Carpentier ducking his swings easily. No hard blows were struck by either boxer, according to agreement.

Although the French fighter was not in action long enough to gauge his real ability, experts observers were convinced that he is one of the most resourceful fighters, especially on the defensive, that Europe has produced in years.

Fear that the Beta house was on fire caused considerable excitement in Granville last night when the alarm was turned in. A curtain in the home of C. B. Belt had caught on fire. The fire was soon extinguished and little damage was done.

Spring vacation for Denison university students began at 3:30 this afternoon and lasts until Monday, April 5, at noon.

At the last meeting of the year of the Shephardson Student association held last night in Stone hall, annual reports were read by the officers: president, Elsie D. Taylor of Yonkers, N. Y.; first vice president, Dorothy Wickenden of Toledo; second vice president, Ava Bell of Newark; secretary, Theresa Foster of Dayton; treasurer, Ethel Bogardus of Spokane, Wash.; and fire chief, Mary Jardine of Chillicothe.

The Granville council has as yet taken no action regarding setting the clocks back on Saturday night. Both Columbus and Newark will make this change at that time. When questioned about it, Mayor C. D. Coons stated that there is no general provision for the change in all cities, but each community management is responsible for deciding the matter for itself.

Well Known Clerk of Arcade Hotel Tells of His Pleasant Experience With New Herbal Remedy.

The stomach is primarily responsible for most cases of poor health.

The average man or woman can not be sick if the stomach is working properly. To be sure, there are diseases of a virulent nature which are organic and are not traceable to the stomach, but even fevers can, in most cases, be traced to something taken into the stomach. All of this half-sick, nervous exhaustion that is now so common, is caused by stomachic conditions and it is because Redex will and does regulate the stomach that it is meeting with such great success, not only in Newark but throughout the country.

To sum the matter up, a sound digestive apparatus that is doing its full duty, getting every particle of nourishment out of all food by transforming it to the bowels in a perfectly digested state that, above all else brings health. Wm. H. Denninger, the popular and genial assistant manager of the Arcade Hotel, Newark, familiarly known as "Billy" by every knight of the city who comes to this city and by nearly every one in town, is another staunch advocate of Redex, the new herbal remedy now being demonstrated at Erman's Arcade Drug Store.

He says: "Some few weeks ago, I had

Dr. C. W. Chamberlain, president of Denison university, spent yesterday in Columbus on business interests.

Prof. Ruyuan Spencer will preach at the Baptist church of Granville on Sunday morning and evening.

Messrs. W. M. and J. C. Shipley attended the funeral of their cousin, Mrs. B. Parson at Chatham Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Edwards of Des Moines, Ia. arrived last night for a visit with Mrs. Edwards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Case. Mr. Case, who has been quite ill, is improving.

One more week of shop talks is scheduled for this season. Following this noon-hour recreation will be on tap for the summer months.

Medicine ball, base ball, and volley ball will be the big things on the program in an athletic way for this summer's noon-hour stunts.

Yesterdays speaker on the shop talks program of the Y. M. C. A. took advantage of the weather and conducted an open air meeting at the Burke Golf plant at noon. About 35 men were present and gave good audience to Dr. George Bolton Schmitt's topic "Hinder Me Not."

Lost Night's Results:

Burke Golf forfeits to B. and O. American Bottle 47, Midland 17.

The Burke Golf team hasn't yet fully recovered from their battle with stove men two weeks ago and the game last night was forfeited to the railroaders.

The Midland team put up a good scrap during the first ten minutes of their game but the old scoring machine of the bottle men got into action and ran past the shoe boys 27 to 12 in the opening half. Neither team played up to form in the second period except for the last minute of play when both sides played like it was the last exhibition of the season. However, only one basket was recorded in that time.

Next week's games give Tuesday a big offering with the Heiseys versus Wehrles, and the Printers versus the Y Seniors. On Thursday night the B. and O. clash with the American Bottle, and Midland gets a whack at the Burke Golf squad.

Commissioners May Refuse to Turn Clock On

Officials Hold That Central Standard Time Is Legal Here and Doubt Authority to Change.

The county commissioners have reached no decision in regard to turning the court house clock forward an hour Saturday night when the city ordinance goes into effect. The commissioners hold that the present time is legal in the state of Ohio and are uncertain as to whether they have the right to change the time.

Many of the churches will conduct the Sunday services on Eastern time, and are notifying the church members through the weekly church notice of the change in time.

PHI DELTA KAPPA TO HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Herbert U. Rine, secretary of the local chapter of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity has just received word that the 1930 national convention of that fraternity will be held in this city sometime in July.

Merrill C. Larason, president of the local chapter and chairman of the convention committee, stated today that he expected between eight and nine hundred men here for a period of four days. He also states that they are preparing for the largest convention in the history of the fraternity. Delegates from almost every state in the union are expected to be present.

The local chapter is comparatively young and has passed through many trying circumstances, having organized just about the time the United States entered the World War. It now has a membership of 60 and will endeavor to show the visiting chapters the hospitality of the city of Newark.

CLEAN CITY

had been secured. He told of what the chamber had accomplished and what disappointments it had suffered in that time.

Briefly the chamber had to meet a deficit in funds and mortgaged a tract of land owned by it, and the directors personally made up between $200 and $500 to tide the chamber over. The workings of the chamber included the helping of the Holophane company giving it $5000 to expand. The Midland shoe company was aided in the purchase of land and has sufficient now to duplicate its present factory, which is hinted as being a possibility. The Newark Stamping and Foundry company, was assisted and the Pharis Tire and Rubber company was aided in selling its stock. General assistance was given merchants and business men. He told of the Moore plant consolidation with the Indianapolis company, and the taking over by the company of the axle department of the Jewett plant and its failure.

"If the members will pay up their subscriptions, we will have enough money to get by until April 15 and the directors can start off with a 100 per cent slate, with money in the bank and prospects for greater results. If you are a citizen and interested in the city you must assume its responsibilities. In order to get smokestacks, we must have good sewerage, good water, sanitation, good schools, good churches. We must be able to show we can ably educate the child and give good homes.

"The only thing that has not gone up in price is the Chamber of Commerce membership which is still $25. Get behind the organization and be a booster for it."

The first speaker introduced was E. D. Leach. Mr. Leach as manager of the Chamber of Commerce was asked to state the working of the Chamber and he told of the membership plan. How last year the board of directors in endeavoring to save money for the Chamber had conducted its own campaign instead of hiring outside help. "The directors knew there were many able and willing workers in the city who would be behind the movement and the work was done locally."

Mr. Leach then explained that if a member signed last year, his subscription would continue automatically unless he returned a signed card sent out cancelling the membership. "We had 718 memberships last year and as we recognize only two good reasons for withdrawing from the Chamber, dear removal to another city, we should start the year with a membership of over 700."

Mr. Leach concluded by stating that a city the size of Newark should have a membership of over 2000 members. Hundreds of the members of the Chamber of Commerce attended the dinner which was served by the Masonic Temple organization. A menu of three courses was quickly served and C. Harrison Davis, manager for the campaign for enlarged membership presided at the meeting and Rev. Bolton Schmitt gave the blessing.

A musical program under the direction of Charles F. Lender was given the following songs being given by the "Junior Y. M. C. A. Minstrels": "Alabama Lullabye" Richard Dorsey; "Alabama Coon" Edwin Dickerson; "Swanee Shore" Archie Kelley; Harry Lander's "How Hate Get up in the Morning" by Gordon Gamble, and "Beautiful Ohio" by Gamble and Kelley.

DOCTOR CHRISTIE AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Increasing crowds continue to come to the special evangelistic services conducted at the First Presbyterian church, Hudson avenue, between Church and Locust streets.

Thursday night Dr. Christie of the Dr. Auburn Presbyterian church, Cincinnati preached on "Christ Knocking at the Door." It was a gripping sermon. Dr. Christie has a personality that immediately wins his audience. The richness of his voice with its distinctly southern accent together with the character of the message commanded the closest attention of the large congregation. Dr. Christie will speak again this evening at 7:30. The service will open with a half-hour's song service under the direction of Ralph E. Mitchell, assisted by the big chorus choir. This will be "Booster" night, with Mitchell's "Boosters" taking prominent part in the preliminary services. The Boosters have some surprise in store. All cordially invited.

BOY'S CHOIR SINGS AGAIN

At the East Main Street Methodist church the boys will sing again tonight. This will be an interesting service. The pastor, Rev. J. Emory Walter, will preach the sermon.

residence. The boy had called his mother. No one about the hotel remembers seeing the man who gave his name as Cox. He was booked by Clerk Berger on a reservation.

He had asked for the room the morning of March 23, but had not been able to get into it until the evening of that day.

The blinds were down and the lights out when Night Clerk Ira M. Parliish went to the room with the parents and sisters of the boy. The scene when the room door was opened and the parents and sisters were reunited with the lost boy was affecting in the extreme.

The child was seized in a warm embrace by the suffering mother.

A few minutes passed and they were on their way home again.

The boy said he had been in the room all the time since he was kidnapped. He said he had been locked in the bathroom part of the time.

In the excitement of the moment no precaution was taken to prevent the escape of the kidnaper.

The whole house was so rejoiced and excited that no one thought to station a guard in the room to await the return of the abductor.

The room was locked and the key taken to the desk and a few papers that gave no clue to the identity of the kidnaper were found in the room.

Mrs. Katherine Sartain, maid of the sixth floor of the hotel said she had not been able to enter the room for two days, in fact ever since the boy was kidnapped. She saw the man enter the room and gave a description of him. She said he was about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing probably 170 to 175 pounds, rather rough looking, and wore a brown suit of clothes and what she described as a soft, black, round hat. A sign was found in the room, printed like the letter to Mr. Little in which the demand for the ransom was made, which bore the legend: "Do not disturb. I am sick."

Mrs. Sartain said the man had an old beaver cloth overcoat, which was frayed around the bottom, as if worn by the wearer running through weeds or low underbrush.

County Detective T. J. Ready, who thinks the plot was concocted in Cincinnati, says he expects an arrest at any time.

Paul Little was put to bed soon after he was taken home. All the morning people called at the house. Paul remained down stairs for a time and when some of his school mates came in he ran to them and kissed them. He said he was given only two bananas, a cake and an apple during his confinement. He said the first night he sat on the edge of the bath tub all night afraid to sleep. He was constantly terrified by gruesome stories and a pistol was shoved in his face several times by his captor. He said he was afraid to call out. He only saw one man, his kidnapper, although the man called by telephone another man whom he called "Jack" and said to him:

"Well, he is here."

Paul is very weak from his experiences, but is physically unharmed. Whether Little will prosecute the kidnapper or not has no bearing on the matter. If the kidnapper is captured, the state will prosecute him, it was said today. Twenty one years in the penitentiary is the maximum punishment in Kentucky for kidnapping.

CINCINNATI POLICE ON HUNT FOR KIDNAPPER

Cincinnati, March 26.—Lexington officials this morning asked the Cincinnati police to be on the lookout for the kidnapper of the Little boy, and to meet the Cincinnati Southern train from Danville, Ky., due here at 10:45. In making the request the Lexington police stated there was a probability that the kidnapper was among the passengers.

A squad of detectives was detailed on the case.

Local police believe the name J. C. Cox, by which the kidnapper registered at the Lexington hotel, was used as an alias.

LAND BOOMS.

The year 1919 saw in certain localities, particularly parts of the corn belt and other portions of the Central states, the most feverish speculation in land ever known. For the first time it seemed to be realized that there is a shortage of good land. Prices in a few states are said to have gone up $100 an acre on an average.

Great numbers of farms have changed hands, some farmers giving up work and moving into towns, and others going to cheaper soils. There will be a big moving time this spring. Many farmers who have struggled along for years, with long hours, hard work, and low prices, are fairly to be congratulated at last gaining their reward. But some of the gains have been made by speculators who have added nothing to resources.

If prices of farm products, as the result of near bankruptcy in Europe, should now take a tumble, these new values may prove to have been mostly on paper. However many authorities claim that land prices will stay nearly where they are in any case.

High prices for land make it more difficult for the young man to get a start as a farmer, or for the farmer renter to become an owner. The renter is more likely to exhaust the soil, and less likely to make permanent improvements. Also higher prices for land must be paid for by consumers of food products. Thus they tend to keep up the present level of living costs, which already are so badly inflated. Bankers are generally discouraging this speculation, which for the time seems to have died down, feeling that it has been too fast and furious to be healthful.

After the bakers have increased the cost of bread in order to keep on giving the same sized loaf, then they will probably cut down the size of the loaf in order to keep the price the same.

Formerly the roadsides were lined with blacksmith's shops to keep the work horses of the country shod. Now they are lined with garages to keep the pleasure cars repaired.

Kansas has an industrial court to avert strikes. The kid element that wants 15 cents an hour for cleaning up the back yard, has not yet pronounced in favor of such legislation.

So far the promoters have shown no desire to retain possession of those wonderful Get Rich Quick stocks that are sure to make the owners thereof millionaires in a very short time.

In Italy they propose to penalize able bodied citizens who refuse to work, while in this country they are principally afraid of some one work overtime, or do too much.

Many citizens who exhorted the soldiers "bravely die for their country," will be too tired to get out and vote for good men at the primaries.

Claimed that modern ball room dances originated from the steps of the Indians. Must have been just after the firewater was passed around.

In spite of the food shortage, some folks here in Newark are more interested in the first ball scores than in the reports of winter wheat.

With 24 out of 36 states voting for woman suffrage, the candidates might just as well put on clean shirts, and have their trousers cleaned.

The free spending of money in the recent elections is deplored by a lot of people who are not in a position to get any of the money.

THE PENALTY OF FOLLY.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
Kapp and his associates sought to bring Germany back under the yoke of a Prussian oligarchy. How amazing is the outcome of their work. They themselves are fugitives, and the old oligarchic element is far weaker than it was before their hairbrained exploit of the thirteenth. The socialist government is back in power, but it is not the safe and sane government it was a little more than a week ago. To avoid civil war it has been compelled to make large concessions to the radicals. It has been forced to take a long step toward socialism. Not the oligarchs but the proletariat have gained materially by the sudden adventure of Kapp and Luetnow.

No one ever accused the Ebert government of great strength or ability. The concessions now extorted by the bellicose radicals prove Ebert's weakness and his inability to handle a dangerous crisis. Worst of all, they remove from the government Gustav Noske, the one strong man whose courage and forcefulness has saved Germany from bolshevism. It is precisely because Noske did save Germany that he is now compelled to retire. It is plain that the radicals consider the present concessions as little more than temporary makeshifts. They are determined to go further, and they cannot consent to have Gustav Noske in a position of authority which would enable him to combat them as he has in the past.

Such is the penalty of the folly of Wolfgang Kapp. The republican government is indeed restored, but it is wobbly and badly deteriorated government. The radicals, who were adequately held in check before the imperialist outbreak, have become arrogant and confident. Instead of paying the way for the re-establishment of Hohenzollernism Kapp has smoothed the path for the setting up of triumphant sovietism in Germany.

Hope Almost Abandoned.
Oh, say, can you see by the dawn's early light, An army of bachelors, all in full flight? But don't be discouraged, girls, still there is hope.

They'll hang themselves yet if we give them more rope. It might pay us well, while they're foundering around. To inspect a few more bachelors whom I've found.

Now how did it happen we passed by Art Nutter? Doesn't he make your heart madly pit-pat and flutter? And that wily dodger named Horace "Pat" Smith.

He's one man I'm sure I could be happy with; But if he's engaged there is Eddie O'Grady. I've heard that he just can't say "No" to a lady.

We've Joneses a-plenty, but A. B. and Guy Are the ones we could land if we'd only half try; I stopped in today just to see Willis Stone.

But found out the back way my victim had flown; There are three single brothers, by name Sinsabaugh, Who are handsome as any men I ever saw.

But when girls hint at marriage I guess they all hide. Let's go after them quietly—Karl, Rich and Clyde; Now, honest and true, don't you think it's real mean

If we make no headway with Rusty Killen? And that matrimonial slacker, John Quinn, I really think, girls, his excuse is too thin;

And why shouldn't one of us win Billy Dunn? I shall never stop trying until he is won; And let's turn our guns on elusive Bob Dold.

Who really should not be left out in the cold; George Baker, George Christman, be brave like that George Who distinguished himself at—let's see—Valley Forge?

Paul Henry, John Fussner and Jack Clinan, Are you all satisfied to be an "also ran"? Henry Schenck, Forest Wyant and Sylvester Binder, Ought to be easy marks for there's nothing to hinder; Johns, Mosler and Thompson, both say they're too young, and anyway, they would much rather be hung;

But I am determined I'll have Gene Fletcher. If he has to be carried away on a stretcher; This ends my list and thus endeth my task.

I've decided the widowers I shall not ask. But it really seems now, tho you never can tell, That my tombstone will bear the name Patience Hopewell.

Be Game, Patience!
Now, Patience, here's a challenge. And please don't pass me by You said in Wednesday's paper I couldn't look you in the eye.

Now if this be an inducement I can give a pot of gold. Instead of the five you asked for But pray don't think me bold.

I deposit all my pay checks Could you ask for any more Just let me call to see you "All is fair in love and war." —Tommy.

Married Strangers

A powerful story dealing with a problem, being worked out in thousands of American homes to-day—that of the husband and wife who find they grow apart while the man goes off to war.

CVII.—The Offensive is Launched.

With the door closed in the face of Bennett's rising wrath, Keitha walked to the mirror and applied a powder puff to her blazing cheeks.

She felt absurdly shaky and the flush that showed through the cooling layer of rice powder had its source in shame as well as excitement.

For the first time in her life, she had really adopted a "catty" and uncharitable attitude toward another woman. For the first time, she had been guilty of calling a member of her own sex "that woman" and refusing to accept her socially, without any more evidence than appearances and a few words of gossip which might, for all she knew, be the work of malice.

But curiously enough, she wasn't sorry. The woman's insolence had angered her from the first, even before she had so coolly answered Lester Bennett and endeavored to flaunt her conquest in the face of his wife and the entire ship.

Keitha's thoughts turned to Mlle. Forrester. She had no reason to be. Heve that the French girl, who came to America to find her erring lover, was less an adventurer than the Warrington woman, but somehow, she had liked the slim chic creature with her amazing naivete, while the red-haired passenger of the Pacific liner moved her to open hostility.

With feminine logic, Keitha decided that it was quite impossible for anyone who looked like Mrs. Warrington to be quite moral.

The luncheon gong sounded from the deck. Keitha waited almost breathlessly, but Bennett did not return to tell her that he had carried out her request to change their places at the table. She had known in her heart that he would not; just as her common sense told her that her request had been ridiculous and incapable of fulfilling without disregarding all rules of courtesy.

But once she had set her shoulder to the wheel, there was no turning back. She resolved to pass the dining salon on her way to the deck and observe for herself.

Everyone was intent on the first course of luncheon when she slipped by the doorway. Her apparently careless glance sweeping over the immaculate tables revealed Mrs. Warrington's henna coiffure in close proximity to Lester's dark hair at the forbidden table.

Keitha went on deck with rage in her heart. It was absurdly easy to get an grr nowadays. She was staring out over the rolling blue waters and biting her lip to preserve her calmness, when Coope-Warner, strolled out. "Too fine to go below even for feeding, isn't it?" he observed lazily, as he dropped into his customary place beside her. "How about a bite on deck, a tete a tete luncheon, what?"

"Delightful," agreed Keitha with enthusiasm. So it happened that when the passengers came up from luncheon, Bennett and Mrs. Warrington, lagging in the rear, they found the Englishman and the pretty copper-haired wife of the army captain sharing an intimate and laughter-laden meal in a sheltered corner of the deck.

Bennett joined the truants with rather more haste than he usually displayed. He left Mrs. Warrington abruptly, but the lady refused to be dismissed so unceremoniously and trailed along behind.

Keitha greeted him with a dazzling smile. "You're just in time to receive an extra share of dessert," she told him, ignoring Mrs. Warrington at his elbow. "I hate puddings, so you can have my portion."

"Run get another chair," she added, staring through the hovering figure of Mrs. Warrington, as if she saw only the Pacific's undulating waves, and we'll have a merry trio."

The emphasis on the last word was unmistakable. Mrs. Warrington flushed the color of her hair and left the deck hurriedly.

I Owe My Life to PE-RU-NA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Travelling from town to town, throughout the country and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time while playing my trade as a musician, it is only natural that I had colds frequently. So when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part, settled on my lungs. When almost dead, I began desponding, but, without avail, until I heard of Peruna. I began taking it, and I cannot praise it too highly."

It Cured Me

TREATY FAILURE IS FAULT OF SENATE

Governor Cox Declares Partisan Conspiracy Caused Defeat of Paris Pact—Wants Tax Law Readjusted.

Chicago, March 24.—Speaking last night before the Iroquois club, a large Democratic organization of Illinois, on the subject "Good Faith in Government," Governor James M. Cox of Ohio charged the defeat of the peace treaty to a senatorial partisan conspiracy. This is the first expression from a high Democratic official since the treaty failed in the senate, and is of unusual interest, coming as it does from one of the leading candidates for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

Governor Cox emphatically pointed out the necessity of wiping away the things which came with the war, to re-establish a natural economic status—among these the excess profits tax.

Governor Cox said: "I merely seek to give point to the necessity now that the war is over, of junking the most of our institutions devoted to war, and scaling governmental machinery down to the very point of necessity and efficiency."

In eliminating the excess profits tax and the abolition of the federal inheritance tax, which latter should be left to the states, Governor Cox recommended a small tax on the volume of business which would neither tend to create excessive prices, or be a burdensome matter of collection.

Governor Cox deprecated the hysteria over so-called Bolshevism, and urged protection against running to any extreme. "If government is as saluted out of sight," he policy must not become venal. Our fathers in specifying what human freedom was, and providing guarantees for its preservation, recognized that among the necessary precautions, was the protection of individual right against governmental abuse."

"Public officers are the representatives of government, and they promote or diminish confidence in our institutions either by wisdom or by error. Never before has there been such a pressing necessity for plain good faith on the part of those in whose hands governmental power is."

The Senate is that part of the law-making branch which either rejects treaties, and upon that body will descend either condemnation or approval because its responsibility cannot easily be denied for the state of affairs worldwide.

The league of Nations as a matter of public topic has resolved itself into a purely technical discussion and the public is sick and tired of it. We have not fired a shot at a German battleship since November, 1918, and yet legally we are at war. We have been almost as long trying to formally establish peace as we were in winning the war.

"Charges and counter-charges have been made, but we easily recall the bad faith exhibited early in the controversy, a dissenting group of senators violated every precedent maintained throughout the years in an effort to vent personal spleen and political spite."

MARRIED AND SINGLE VETS IN HOT CONTEST

The American Legion had a social session at the A. R. hall last evening. There was no business meeting but an informal discussion of the Newark post's chances in the statewide campaign was held. Newark stands third at present with only a 40 per cent representation of the country's ex-service men. Chairman Rogers of the membership committee organized the present membership into two teams, of married men and bachelors. The married men are led by Charles C. Starrett and the single men by Sherwood Miller. The contest will close April 6 and a big effort will be made to put Newark in the lead by that time.

At 9 o'clock Frederick Wright of the Avon Harmony Post, composed of Legion members, who produced some close harmony that pleased greatly.

After the entertainment Charles Lindsey announced that the dining room was open for business. Chili con carne, cooked in regular Mexican style by Lindsey and Sergeant Barlow, was the piece de resistance and was devoured in quantities to prove its goodness. Coffee and crackers made up the rest of the menu.

BOWSER BEATS KILONIS AGAIN; USES TOE HOLD

Paul Bowser won from John Kilonis at the Auditorium last evening in one of the roughest wrestling matches ever seen in this city, getting the last two falls out of three.

With the struggle hold not barred and with no time limit for the match Kilonis did his best to get the decision and the referee stepped in. He won the first fall in 23 minutes with a spread eagle. Bowser came back in the second and third and won the falls and the match with a toe hold in 32 1/2 minutes and a cradle in 9 minutes.

In the preliminary the scheduled men did not appear but Joe Willis of Boston took the place of Pete Dallas and agreed to throw Vance Wallace and Billy Gallagher in 45 minutes or lose the decision. He defeated Wallace in 18 minutes with a body scissors but Gallagher stuck with him for 27 minutes and won the decision by staying.

Paul Bowser will leave Monday for a ten day trip through the south where he has five matches scheduled. He will return in time for his bout with Pinky Gardner here two weeks from last night.

JUMPS FROM AUTO TO SAVE HAT; IS KILLED

Zanesville, March 24.—Miss Nora Hall, aged about 50, was instantly killed Thursday night when she jumped from a moving automobile in an attempt to recover her bonnet which had blown from her head near this city. Albert Porter was driving the car. Without waiting for the car to stop, she opened the door and jumped out, evidently frightened by her head and shoulders. Her neck was broken.

"SMOKESTACKS THAT CAME"

When the present administration of the Newark Chamber of Commerce took office last July, it immediately set about finding out what the membership wanted, by means of a questionnaire.

The Unmistakable Cry Came Back -- "Give Us Smokestacks"

"SMOKESTACKS THAT CAME"

A definite policy was formulated by the newly elected Board of Directors, and the following industries or "smokestacks" were brought to Newark in six months' time:

The Moore Tool and Machine Company. Capitalization, $300,000.00

The Cree-Becker Oil Well Tool Supply Company. Capitalization, $500,000.00

The Halladay Motors Corporation Company. Capitalization, $1,500,000.00

CONSIDER THESE THREE COMPANIES

They mean a total capitalization of $2,300,000.00. When the smokestacks start belching forth smoke, they will mean at least 600 additional employees.

They mean millions of dollars coming into Newark, into stores, banks, and in the hands of workmen and property owners.

PROGRESS OF PLANTS

The Moore Company has started operations in one plant and is to erect another.

The Cree-Becker Company will begin immediately to erect a plant on the Pratt-Kirk site in East Newark.

The Halladay Company has already broken ground and has on the ground, materials for the erection of one of the best automobile plants in the country.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES AIDED

The Chamber of Commerce has been active in aiding local industries as follows:

1. Assisted in the sale of $250,000.00 preferred stock of the Pharis Tire and Rubber Company.
2. Negotiated for the purchase of additional land for two concerns, so as to permit an enlargement of their plants.
3. Assisted in securing switching facilities for another concern, which made possible an addition to its plant.
4. Conferences are now being held with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and several other local industries, with a view toward increasing the output of these plants.

PREVENTS SHUT-DOWN OF POWER PLANT

Through the joint efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Power Company, arrangements were made with the Railroad Administration, permitting the Ohio Power Company to continue operations during the coal strike last December, thus keeping 18,000 men employed, who otherwise would have been idle for several days.

CIVIC ENTERPRISES

While the Chamber of Commerce has been active in securing "smokestacks," it has not neglected civic affairs. Through its influence, over 200 rooms have been opened to those coming to Newark, thus affording a home to those needing one, and providing a renter for those having vacant rooms.

The staff of the Chamber of Commerce has also had a watchful eye to those former service men seeking employment. A number of former service men have been placed in local industries.

A DEFINITE POLICY

While it is considered important to bring to the city NEW SMOKESTACKS, AID THOSE ALREADY LOCATED HERE, SUPPORT AND CARRY OUT CIVIC ENTERPRISES and GIVE SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY, the Board of Directors, which is constituted the committee on industries, believes that not the least important of its work is LOOKING TOWARD THE FUTURE. Following this attitude, the Board of Directors have evolved a definite policy toward industries that wish to locate here. The Board knows now how far it can go. It can give a definite answer to any reasonable question, and knows how far the membership will back it up.

To accomplish this definite purpose, the Board of Directors spent many hours surveying possible sites for new industries, or for helping those already located here. This information has been tabulated and an approximate law of averages has been struck. This greatly assists the Board of Directors in judging the value of any given prospective industry to the city of Newark.

GIVING OF SERVICE

Local manufacturers often find in the Chamber of Commerce a solution to a number of their business problems. In addition to this, there is scarcely a day that inquiries are not received from outside sources, asking about various products "made in Newark." This often results in a handsome benefit to Newark manufacturers and to their employees.

The Chamber of Commerce also renders service to those who wish outside service. This is rendered through the agency of the United States Chamber of Commerce, of which the local organization is a member.

This is the Record of YOUR Chamber of Commerce for 1919. This Record Was Accomplished With 710 Members.

"Tea For Three" Tonight.

When Norman Hackett brings the Selwyns production of "Tea For Three" to the Auditorium this evening the role of Doris, the feminine angle of the eternal triangle, will be acted by Miss Fred Evans, a young actress who has found life almost overwhelmingly full in the last two or three years. A few years ago Miss Evans went East from her Middle Western home to carve out a career. Just what form this career was to take she didn't exactly know but she hoped it would be the stage. And what Mildred hopes for she usually attains. She secured small parts in two or three productions and finally landed with the Washington Square Players. Then came the war and she enlisted for entertainment work. She was in France, Belgium and Germany for ten months, enduring many discomforts and enjoying many thrills. She talks in a very interesting way of her experiences, recalling particularly one ardent moment, when perched on a rickety billiard table in an old dilapidated chateau, she was helping carry on a "show." "A wobbly oil lamp hung directly above me," says Miss Evans. "I was suspicious of it from the start so I enjoined the boys if they saw it twitch to let me know. From its moorings to whistle so I could get from under. Just as I was taking a very creditable high note down came the lamp, hitting me a resounding whack on the top of the head. I was so thrilled by the tremendous volume of whistling that burst forth that I forgot to cry over my hurt even though I had a good sized bump. The boys whistled sure enough, but just too late to help me. I soon collected my wits and went on with the show."

On her return from France Miss Evans was engaged for the wife in "Tea For Three" and has won much enthusiastic comment on the excellence of her performance. Seats now selling.

Prince of Avenue A.
The Auditorium for Saturday starting at One p.m. offers The Universal Special Attraction "Prince of Avenue A," in which James Corbett and a good cast of players appear. This feature although shown at the Alhambra some time ago will draw again, as many requests for its return has come to the management. The price for Saturday at the Auditorium are 10 and 15 cents in the afternoon, with 15 cents for everybody in the evening. These are the prices that prevailed during the showing at the Alhambra.

Burnt Wings.
The Auditorium will have a specially arranged picture program for its patrons on Sunday next. Frank Mayo in "Burnt Wings" an adaptation of Bayard Veiller's stage success "The Primrose Path" is the headline feature. This six reel story was directed by Christy Cabanne and is a Universal Special Attraction, seen only at either of Manager Fenberg's playhouses. The press reports on "Burnt Wings" are very good. Harrison of Films Reports said: "Strong Human Interest." The Moving Picture News said: "A Picture that will interest." The Exhibitor's Trade Review said: "Has Popular Appeal."

Keeping Up With the Joneses.
A night of wholesome fun, splendid songs and a bewitching chorus of young misses that can sing and dance, is in store for the lovers of good musical comedy with the announcement that Gus Hill's latest musical, "Keeping Up With the Joneses" will be seen at the Auditorium next Monday evening. Originality is the keynote of this brand new conception of melody, song and hilarity which is founded on the popular cartoons of the same title created by Pop Morand and published in the principal newspapers throughout the country. The book and lyrics are by John P. Mulgrew, and the music by Ed Hutchinson. The management promises a big cast of well known musical comedy players and one of the smartest choruses ever assembled. Seats now selling.

ALHAMBRA
"Duds."

"Duds" is a story of the aftermath of the great war, of the pillage of devastated Europe, and one of the thousand treasures of which it was robbed by those hordes who are always to be found following the path of destruction—the ghoulies of deserted chateaux and palaces.

The treasure with which the story deals is the famous Sultan's diamond, wrested from a French woman by German officers. This with other stolen treasure is smuggled across the Atlantic on large steamers, secreted in small boxes which are strung together by small chains and dropped out of the portholes shortly before the vessels reach port.

Captain Pheobe Plunkett, discharged from the U. S. service, meets Patricia Melton at a friend's house. She tells him she is in the French secret service and asks his aid. He volunteers to go with her to meet an incoming vessel in a motor boat and apprehend the work of the smugglers. After desperate adventures in high seas they sink the small boat of the smugglers capture their booty and make for the shore where they find a shelter. Plunkett's suspicions of Patricia are aroused when he hears her, the following morning, opening the chain of boxes in an adjoining room, without taking him into her confidence. This feature, also Patricia is shown at the Alhambra today and tomorrow.

"The Tiger Girl."
D. W. Griffith, producer of "The Birth of a Nation," "Hearts of the World" and numerous other big photoplays, supervised the making of "The Tiger Girl," the Alhambra feature for Sunday. This is not a new picture, but a re issue made by the Triangle corporation. Lillian Gish, Rozsika Dolly and others are seen in the cast.

Bray's Pictograph and other added features are promised.

"Happy Though Married."
Romance connecting North and South America has come to light through the marriage of Stanley Montjoy to Milli Lee of Albany, N. Y. It appears that the young people have been long engaged, but it was not until recently that Stanley struck it rich in South America, where he and his brother Jim have been engaged in working a claim and thus enabled him to marry the girl of his choice. Bob Davis, an old friend of the groom, was best man.

Doesn't this suggest the beginning of a good newspaper yarn—well, it is more than that. It is the partial plot of a new Paramount picture—"Happy Though Married" in which Enid Bennett will appear at the Alhambra Monday and Tuesday.

GEM
J. P. McGowan, who directed the latest Elmo Lincoln serial, "Elmo the Fearless," now being shown over, took at the Gem is said to be the most successful serial director in the moving picture business. He has a genius for handling the dangerous situations and amazing escapades for his company. His players call McGowan's company the suicide squad.

APPROVES LAW TO BOOST INSURANCE FOR SERVICE MEN

Measure Provides That Premiums May Be Paid At Postoffices—Fund Will Pay for Advertising Campaign.

Washington, March 26.—Legislation designed to bring the government war risk insurance into closer touch with former service men was approved yesterday by the House interstate commerce sub-committee in charge of war risk insurance bills. Collection of insurance premiums at postoffices, establishment of state war risk insurance offices and funds for advertising the benefits of the government insurance are provided.

For establishing regional offices and other sub-offices the bill carries $1,000,000, while $250,000 is proposed for advertising. Besides collecting insurance premiums, postoffices would handle applications for reinsurance and reinstatement of policies. No premiums on renewable terminated insurance will be collected temporarily from men while receiving hospital care or vocational training, or while suffering total temporary disability.

For one year after passage of the bill the government would provide without charge all medical, dental and surgical care for men suffering from diseases resulting from the service.

SAYS DELAWARE CAN ONLY DELAY SUFFRAGE

Dover, Delaware, March 26.—The contest in the Delaware legislature for the 36th vote for ratification of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment was waged yesterday at the public hearing before a joint session. The vote in the Senate may be reached tomorrow with supporters and opponents continuing confident. Suffrage advocates including United States Senators McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, and Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, addressed the legislature at its morning session and the opposition speakers at a later meeting. Spectators crowded literally every inch of the small capitol chamber. National aspects of the suffrage questions were emphasized by the ratification advocates.

Delaware's action, Senator McKellar said, would determine only whether women may vote in the coming election. Rejection by Delaware, he said, could only defer woman's suffrage to the next election, as Tennessee is sure to ratify next January. Senator Sterling said the question was not partisan, but one of individual justice.

FOUR MAINE DELEGATES FAVOR GENERAL WOOD

Bangor, Maine, March 26.—Maine's four delegates at large to the Republican national convention were chosen at the morning session of the state convention here today. Although uninstructed they were said by supporters of Major General Wood to favor his candidacy for the presidential nomination. The Wood committee is the only one that has conducted a pre-convention campaign in the state. The delegates are Edward W. Wheeler, Brunswick; Charles B. Carter, Auburn; George G. West, Fairfield and Colonel Frank M. Hume, Houlton.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble —How to Remove Freckles—There's a reason why nearly every body freckles in March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of Othine, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Not is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if Othine fails.—Adv.

HAS GIVEN BIG SUM TO PUT WOOD OVER, SAYS N. Y. WORLD

W. B. Thompson.

That General Wood's presidential boom has been underwritten by ten multi-millionaire business men, each of whom has agreed to contribute $100,000, is the statement of the New York World. One of the ten, according to this influential Democratic newspaper, is W. B. Thompson, copper magnate, federal reserve bank director and officer and director in many corporations, including the Utah and Inspiration Copper Companies and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., of New York.

SIX BIG PURE FOOD CENTERS

Exclusive Features in the MOLINE UNIVERSAL TRACTOR

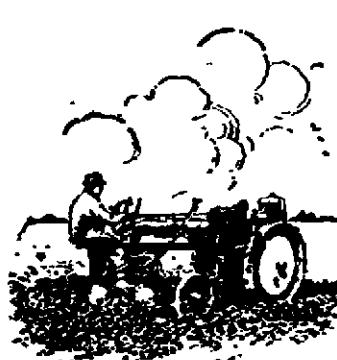

Exclusive Features:

1. Does all field work, including cultivating, harvesting and belt work.
2. Both tractor and implement operated by one man.
3. Tractor and implement form one unit.
4. Operator sits on implement at center of all controls of tractor and implement.
5. Operator sees his work. "Foresight is better than hindsight."
6. Tractive power in front of work, operator behind it.

Exclusive Results:

1. No duplication of any work by horses.
2. A saving in labor.
3. Entire outfit turns short, backs and makes fence corners produce.
4. Ease of operation.
5. Better work.
6. Power used as horses are used.

The Power of a Correct Principle

The principle of doing all field operations with one man sitting where he can watch his work is correct, or farming has always been done backward, and the operator would always have ridden or led his horses instead of driving them.

The Moline Universal Tractor places the power of nine big horses where the horses stood—in driven just like horses are driven, from the seat of the implement, and hitched up to the implement just like horses are hitched.

NOTE—If desired you can use the "drag bar" or "horse drawn implement" as you have the same as with other types of tractors.

We have sold the Moline Universal Tractor over a limited territory around St. Louisville for the past six years, realizing the need of tractors on every farm we have secured the exclusive sale of the Moline Universal Tractor for Morgan, Miller and Clay townships in Knox and have practically all of Licking county.

After very carefully investigating all makes of tractors as to their adaptability on the farm, we believe the Moline the only practical tractor for farm work. There is no other tractor on the market today which you can hitch to any implement and sit on the implement and operate the tractor satisfactorily except the Moline Universal.

By the use of our rear wheels which comes with each tractor, we have the same four-wheel outfit as other tractors, and if you choose, pull any implement behind, as they do.

We recommend and guarantee the Moline to do satisfactory work on your farm. If interested write or call us over Citizen's Phone, St. Louisville. We will be only too glad to call on you and explain more fully.

PARIS TURNS TO OLD-TIME IDEAS

Flounces and Flares Are Featured in Spring and Summer Models.

TAFFETA STILL HOLDS SWAY

Material Has Been Softened Until It May Become Almost Like Satin—Suits Have Hems of Lace.

French dressmakers are turning their attention to old-fashioned materials as well as to old-time designs. This is evinced, notes a Paris fashion writer, in the showing of spring and summer models in Paris. Never before has taffeta, a very old-fashioned material, enjoyed such a long and pronounced vogue.

Fabric makers are improving taffeta. The only real objection to it in times gone by was that its stiffness made difficult the task of evolving graceful models. Now taffeta is being made thin and soft like satin, some of it having a highly glazed surface. Then it is being embroidered in various ways. Especially interesting among the new taffetas is one that has a cold dot embroidered in bright colors.

Paris is adopting these new taffetas, and a great many mid-season models are being made of this fabric. A frock developed from a quality known as diamantine in a soft gray is embroidered in rafia strands that are not dyed but treated by a process of glycerin finish which makes them as pliable as silk.

Fur Is Used at Random.

To make these taffeta dresses more becoming the Paris dressmakers often line the collar and cuffs with a soft fur, such as petit gris. The fact that fur is becoming more expensive every day does not deter the French couturier from making what might seem to the casual observer unnecessary and unseasonable use of this precious trimming.

Madeleine et Madeleine have made a taffeta dress that takes somewhat the form of a draped polonaise, though frankly cut in two pieces. The waistline is low and loose-fitting and the draped skirt is joined to it under a group of minute tucks which extend across the center of the back and front only. A similar group of tucks gives fullness across the bust line; these tucks stop short of the armhole and lose themselves in a sort of drooping blouse fullness.

The bodice is finished without sleeves, the armhole being surrounded by tiny points, or dents, embroidered in copper color silk. There is, how-trained with cerise satin cire is embroidered in gold and copper threads and dyed rafia strands. The waistline is low, the front fastening decidedly at one side. The embroidered revers forms a round yoke at the back, which, descending over the tops of the shoulders, gives a sort of 1830 back. This model is very well thought of by mid-season buyers.

Every Frenchwoman who makes any pretense at all to a smart wardrobe includes among her dresses one of black satin regardless of what other materials may be in the limelight of fashion. Mme. Jenny has made some especially beautiful frocks of black satin for her customers to wear at the resorts, such as Nice and Monte Carlo. For these models she favors the flounced skirt. In fact, this may be said to be the most pronounced feature of her satin dresses.

These deep flounces make the entire skirt. Instead of having a hem on the bottom of the flounce, a facing of black velvet to about the depth of a hem is used. The idea of the flounced skirt comes from the French stage. Many of these stage frocks, which are having so pronounced an influence on all fashions, were designed by this great dressmaker. Gray, too, is a favorite color for satin frocks.

Three-Piece Suit, Hem of Lace. Mme. Jenny is not the only designer who does unusual things to hems. Bulloz has introduced the lace hem. He used it with good effect on a black suit, which is accompanied by a long accordion plaited cape. Both the cape and skirt have this remarkable hem, which is formed by inserting scalloped lace, the irregular side of the lace going toward the top of the garment. It is a three-piece suit, the third piece being a blouse of white brocade silk. It is, of course, a typical formal afternoon costume.

It is interesting to note that these three-piece costumes are even more pronounced for spring than they were for autumn. Women delight in three-piece affairs as offering a great advantage over the old-time suit consisting of a skirt and coat only, which had to be completed by a blouse picked up at random and which did not always make a good-looking dress when the coat was removed. Among the practical suits carrying out this idea are those consisting of a simple dress and a somewhat long coat rather than the order of a redingote. These are not always made of cloth; silk features prominently in these new costumes for spring.

Breaving dresses are not quite as prominent in the new showings of clothes as they were in those of last season. While the elaborate evening dress is not in such general use as the short skirted dancing frock, the Paris dressmaker feels the necessity of including in her collection very dressy and extreme models developed in handsome brocades.

Hats From Paris.

Paris is experiencing a veritable craze for embroidered hats, which may be made of almost any fabric, with the embroidery of rafia, artificial silk or metal threads. It is very smart to have an embroidered purse exactly matching the hat. The rafia embroidery is effectively used on the underbrim of hats as a means of introducing a becoming bit of color as well as an idea that is entirely new.

The latest novelty is to use cellophane as the foundation for the embroidery. This highly glazed composition has taken Paris by storm. As a background for embroidery, the plain tissue is interesting, but without ornamentation it is too much like patent leather or stiletto to be becoming.

Taffeta Dress With Sleeveless Armholes and a Gimpes With Short Balloon Sleeves. The Neck Ruffle Is Detachable and the Dress Finished to Be Worn Without It if Desired.

ever, an accompanying guimpe which carries short balloon sleeves, also tucked. The skirt of the polonaise has the disappearing tucks and the scalloped embroidered edge. It forms a jabot drape at the sides and is hung over an extremely narrow underskirt. The bodice finishes with a straight, round neck, but there is an extra collar ruff which stands very stiff and is centered by a band of copper colored embroidery which falls at the back in two "follow-me-lads" ends. Dress Marks Back to the Thirties. Another polonaise dress developed in cashmere serge of fine quality and

CALLED SPY, POLE MAY HAVE KILLED HIMSELF

Steubenville, March 23.—Mike Molnara, 25, a veteran of the world war, was instantly killed when run over by a Panhandle train below Mingo Junction. Friends say he was despondent because companions had jokingly accused him of being a "spy." His people who are of Polish descent say he told them several times that some of his friends had been teasing him. His head was severed. Coroner T. R. Kirk is conducting an investigation to learn if death resulted from accident or was intentional.

ELIHU ROOT TO HELP FORM WORLD COURT

London, March 23.—Elihu Root has accepted the invitation to become a member of the committee agreed upon at the London meeting of the council of the League of Nations to work out the details for the constitution of a permanent court of international justice, it was announced today.

HOKA SMITH TO SEEK NOMINATION AT PRIMARY

Atlanta, March 23.—Formally announcing his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president in the Georgia primary April 20, Senator Hoka Smith yesterday declared he was unalterably opposed to the Democratic party committing itself to a national campaign on the proposition that the League of Nations should have been ratified by the Senate without change.

SHOE CUTTERS ASK INCREASE. Cincinnati, March 23.—Shoe cutters of this city have asked for a wage increase ranging from 75 to 90 per cent, beginning May 1. It was stated by an official of the union that impression that cutters are earning from $40 to $60 a week was erroneous. He said the average earning was $1,300 a year and they wanted an advance to $2,300. He also asserted that the manufacturers had offered the men a 25 per cent increase.

PENSION FUND CAN'T BORROW. Columbus, March 23.—Trustees of police and firemen's pension funds have no authority to borrow money for their funds, Attorney General Price ruled yesterday in an opinion to the state bureau of accounting. The fund must be maintained by tax levies, by the payment of certain fines and rewards.

CHASE LIQUOR THIEVES. Toledo, March 23.—Liquor thieves obtained entry into the home of J. H. Blank here last night by representing themselves as federal officers and then locking up three of Blank's daughters in a cellar. They were searching the house when Blank returned, seized a chair and routed one of the intruders, who was followed by the rest.

CHARGE FARE VIOLATION. Canton, March 23.—Formal charges that the Northern Ohio Traction company is violating the fare provisions of two franchises between Canton and Massillon and Massillon and Navarre and that the cash fares charged between Canton and Beach City are unreasonable, were filed with the state public utilities commission by the county commissioners yesterday.

CARRY AWAY SAFE. Toledo, March 23.—After carrying a safe from a motion picture theater into an alley here Wednesday night, burglars left it unopened and failed to get the contents of several hundred dollars. It is supposed the men were frightened while trying to open the safe, which was found unharmed this morning.

A tiny scratch may turn to blood-poisoning

The most insidious form of blood-poisoning is caused by a tiny scratch or cut. It doesn't hurt to take chances. Wash the wound in warm water, apply Turpo and bandage with I. M. Turpo ointment, ointment and side in the healing. Perfectly safe to use because Turpo contains nothing but three of the old-fashioned remedies, Turpentine, Kerosene and Camellia, at your druggist's.

Oh Dear, My Back! How it Aches!

Oh Dear! Pain almost like that of tooth-ache. Sometimes my feet are swollen and it is difficult for me to get out of bed in the morning.

This is what many men and women write us, and it is all due to an over-abundance of uric acid in the body, which causes lumbago, rheumatism and gout.

Several years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered a combination of pharmaceutical products that invariably cleanse out the poisons by exciting the kidneys, and soothe the irritated bladder, so that now many thousands write Dr. Pierce as to the wonderful benefits they have received from this anti-uric acid and kidney tablet called Anuric. Sold by druggists, or send 10c. to Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

FREMONT, OHIO.—"Anuric cured me when doctors and other medicine had failed. For about five years I suffered with kidney complaint and bladder trouble. I suffered with pains in my back and across my kidneys. I became so bad that rheumatism set in and extended through my limbs and arms. I doctored without getting relief until I saw Anuric advertised and, knowing how good all Doctor Pierce's other medicines are, I decided to try these tablets, and it was only necessary for me to take three bottles to completely cure me of all kidney trouble and rid me of all rheumatism.

"Anuric is the best medicine I have ever taken for these ailments."—MRS. DAISY CHERRY, 813 Garrison Street.

BATHING SUIT IDEAS BROUGHT BACK FROM PALM BEACH FOR NORTHERN SUMMER

If you are one of those methodical women who always has the home dressmaker come in March or April to do the sewing for the season you will surely want some hints as to what the bathing suits will be like next July and August. Of course, it is a bit early for those people who live in the northern half of the country to think about swimming, but it is none too early to think about swimming suits. Many smart and pretty styles, some daring, some conservative and some ordinary were displayed on the southern beaches this season and those styles will undoubtedly persist through the summer season. The swimmer, of course, will always wear the merest covering of jersey, either sleeveless with a tiny skirt or a regular man's bathing suit which may have small sleeves. The girl who likes to sit on the beach and get a nice coat of tan instead of swimming and getting a nice shapely arm has a number of pretty styles to choose from. Here are two of the newest models which were displayed at Palm Beach.

URGES BOOZE ORDINANCE TO GIVE CITY FINES IN LIQUOR CASES

Prohibition Enforcement Agent Confers With Municipal Judge Bolton, Advising Passage of Such a Measure. City and County Officials Have Full Authority.

An ordinance by the city council under which first violations of the federal prohibition amendment may be prosecuted, so that fines for first offenses can go to the city was urged by Fred W. Henke, federal prohibition enforcement agent yesterday in a conference with Municipal Judge F. A. Bolton. Under the ordinance suggested by Henke, the minimum fine for such offense would be $300. He pointed out that this would add to the city's revenue, so badly needed in these days of fund shortage.

Henke said that under the present state and federal laws, fines paid for prohibition violations are paid into the state or federal courts and the city does not profit thereby. He said that in Jefferson county the treasury was enriched $6,000 in one week by reason of fines assessed for liquor violations. All public officials charged with the enforcement of a state or federal law have authority to enforce the prohibition act, Henke said. He gave out a statement issued by J. A. Sneider, Ohio state prohibition enforcement director, which follows:

"Section 23, title 10, of the enforcement act, provides that all officers of the United States whose duty it is to enforce criminal laws have all the power and protection in the enforcement of this act or any provision thereof which is conferred by law for the enforcement of existing laws relating to the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors under the laws of the United States."

All public officials should cooperate fully in the enforcement of the national prohibition act, whether they be federal, state, city or county officers, particularly because it is based on the constitution of the United States itself. Local public officials have ample authority to issue warrants and entertain proceedings for violation of the act under section 10A of the revised statutes, which in part is as follows:

"For any crime or offense against the United States, the offender may, by any justice or judge of the United States or by any commissioner of a circuit court authorized to take bail or by any chancellor or any judge of a supreme or superior court, chief or first judge of common pleas, mayor of a city, justice of the peace or other magistrate of any state where he may be found and agreeable to the usual mode of process against offenders in such state and at the expense of the United States, be arrested and imprisoned or bailed as the case may be, for trial before such court of the United States as by law has cognizance of the offense."

Henke also pointed out that state prosecutions may be made under Section 12195 Ohio statute, making it an offense to keep a place for the unlawful sale of liquor.

Henke stopped in Newark Thursday to notify the owner of the old brewery property in Railroad street, near First, to have removed the sign on the building, which is a violation of the law. His attention was directed to the sign as he was passing through the city on a train.

IN VIVID COLORS

Blouses in Bright Tints Popular This Season.

Hand Painting is New Decorative Scheme; Fad Opens Way for Many Possibilities.

The blouse shown in the sketch is an especially smart member of the overskirt blouse family. It is also an especially serviceable type of blouse. As originally designed it was developed in white crepe de chine and trimmed with bands of applied navy satin. An outline design of embroidery done in silk in a shade matching the satin always gives a pretty decorative touch. The waist is held in with a satin ribbon belt finished with tassel ends. It may be a slip-over or may fasten on one shoulder, according to choice.

Blouses in vivid colors are very popular this season. One of the newest decorative schemes is hand painting. No special design is preferred, so the fad opens up all sorts of possibilities to the woman who makes her own blouses. She may take a perfectly plain blouse and paint it until it is transformed into a gorgeous thing of beauty, putting her own particular color scheme and favorite flower or design into the motif.

Bead embroideries, bead bandings and bead girdles in very bright colors add their bit to many otherwise plain-looking garments, and bead fringe is by no means out of favor.

Among the newest French blouses brought over many showing a decided vest or waistcoat effect are in evidence.

Wholesale dealers in blouses are showing models for spring, and it is interesting to note that great confidence is expressed in a demand for lingerie garments. Very dainty effects are being brought out in fine sheer batiste, voile, etc., decorated with White Crepe de Chine and Navy Satin.

Philippine embroideries and very fine insets of filet, Irish crochet and other laces.

The very smartest models have the entire sleeves, as well as the bodice properly decorated with embroidered motifs and lace. In the lingerie models the blouse that tucks in underneath the skirt band shares honors with the one that ties about the figure. Comparatively few over-the-skirt models are shown in washable fabrics.

BEADED BAG IS ABANDONED

Fashion Tires of One-Time Favorite and Takes to More Exclusive Oriental Novelties.

Fashion has somewhat tired of the beaded bag and is now going in for more exclusive novelties, oriental in their type. Two new bags have appeared on the Rue de la Paix, writes a Paris fashion correspondent. One is a pouch form hanging from a solid silver ring and closing with a hinged cover set on to a corresponding ring, the other two being held together with a curiously carved clasp. At the top of the bag is a cap of carved silver and at the bottom a silver pendant ornament. The sack portion is of black satin ornamented with a band of old Japanese embroidery. The other bag of gold cloth, ornamented with bead and metal embroidery and metal pendant ornaments, is for evening wear. At the top of the gold ribbon drawstrings is a Chinese figure formed of carved ivory.

Smart Effects in Gloves.

Suede gloves are smartest for afternoon, glaze kid gloves for evening wear. The afternoon gloves may be white old ivory, pale tan or mastic. The evening gloves will be white—unless black gloves are worn with a black frock. Most of the formal afternoon costumes now have long three-quarter sleeves, and these demand gloves in at least sixteen button length. A tightly pulled-up glove is very bad style, the more generously the wrist part wrinkles on the arm in mousquetaire fashion, the smarter and more elegant will be the effect.

Cotton Blouses Are Smart.

Cotton blouses of voile or batiste made by hand and trimmed with hand-drawn work and embroidery are very dainty and smart.

Approximately 5,000 Indians throughout the United States enlisted to fight against Germany.

Regular Habits Produce a Beautiful Complexion

Daily elimination rids the system of poisons. Women should realize that!

MANY women complain daily of their complexion, of their headaches and general ill health, little realizing that the trouble is constipation. Women, too, are much more subject to such congestion than men, and much more careless of it. The result is seen in lusterless, weary eyes, in sallow, pimply complexion, in lassitude, bad breath, and in that word so often used, "indisposed."

At the first sign of these symptoms the wise woman will take a laxative, and will see that the young girl and others in her care do likewise. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite with thousands of women because it is mild and gentle in its action and in the end trains the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally without the aid of medicine.

This combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, which can be bought at any drug store, is also a very amazing first-aid in colds, fevers and other sudden ills that make it advisable to always have a bottle in the home. It is free from narcotics and safe for the tiniest baby.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest-selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

BLACK AND WHITE

Colors Form Popular Combination for Spring Clothes.

Staples Have Always Been Great Favorites in the Wardrobe of Smart Women.

In spite of the decided tendency towards brilliance and gaiety in the color scheme of the newest modes, it must be admitted, observes a fashion writer, that an important place is still reserved for that most welcome of fashionable combinations, black and white.

Black has always been a great favorite in the wardrobe of the really smart woman. No trousseau of any description has been complete without the black gown.

The modern interpretation of this indispensable is the chic, cleverly combined black and white. Today we rarely see black without its charming allied color, white. Sometimes the sober uniformity of the black is relieved by a simple touch of white, perhaps a handsome collar, of fine lace, an accordion-plaited ruching, sometimes merely a double-faced ribbon, black and white, serving as a belt, or manipulated in some original manner to form a trimming.

This delightful feature is illustrated in a pretty and simple creation of black satin, whose sole garniture is a tiny ribbon ruching, black, lined in white, which outlines the décolletage, the edges of the wee sleeves, encircles the waist and borders the skirt-hem. The effect of the ruching allows the white to peep out among the black satin folds, without exaggerating the note of color.

Formerly, when one associated black with white, to make a gown, the skirt was invariably of the dark, the blouse of the lighter tint. But now all this is changed. Any fantasy is permitted, on the sole condition that the result be harmonious.

So we may possess the newest idea carried out in a frock—the skirt of white flannel, entirely accordeon-plaited, the bodice semi-fitting, casaque shape, of black jersey de soie.

The casaque comes well down over the hips, fitting snugly over shoulders and bust. At the waist-line, however, it is looser, hiding the natural line as much as possible. The fastening in the back is effected by means of a row of small white buttons, and the sleeves are brightened by a bias fold of the white flannel. This frock has the double advantage of being at once the "sport" type and the latest word in smart dress as well.

In the domain of the tailored suit the black and white combination also reserves its place for recognition.

A GREASY, PIMPLY SKIN COATED TONGUE AND FOUL BREATH

Poisons in the blood, accumulated through the winter months, should be promptly driven out by taking sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses, but it is so nauseating! Well, then, just get a tube of Sulphur Tablets and they will do the work pleasantly. They are made of sulphur, cream of tartar and herbs—sugar coated tablets. Stomach, liver, bowels and blood are all benefited by their occasional use. Greasy skin, pimples, coated tongue and foul breath tell you if your blood is bad. Mrs. B. Clarke, 908 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y., writes: "I have been using your Sulphur Tablets and like them very, very much." Sold by all druggists. Don't accept ordinary "sulphur" tablets and be nauseated and disappointed.—Adv.

IT FELT LIKE MY BACK WOULD BREAK

Dull, aching pains over kidneys, pains in joints and muscles made life miserable for this Canton man.

The great root and herb remedy Drecto was quick in wiping away all his troubles.

"I've stayed on my job many a time with my back aching like it would break," said Mr. Clark, a bricklayer who lives at 1001 Lawrence Road, Canton, O.

"I think my kidneys were at fault, but no medicine I ever took helped me much. Every turn or movement gave me pain, and bending over or lifting anything heavy was specially painful."

"I also had a bad case of stomach trouble. After eating I'd have a full, heavy feeling and would belch gas. My bowels were constipated and my head lazy, which gave me a tired, dull feeling every morning, making me grouchy. I was often dizzy and could see spots dancing before my eyes. My tongue was coated and breath foul."

"After taking Drecto I am happy to report a great change in my feelings. I can eat anything I want with no fear of gas or bloating as my stomach digests anything perfectly. I know my liver has been cleaned out thoroughly for those headaches, dizzy spells, tired, dull, grouchy feeling of mornings have gone, and I get up fresh and full of energy, ready for big work. The backache has been entirely relieved and the soreness in the joints and muscles gone. I believe in Drecto very strong, and have induced several friends to take it on account of what it did for me."

All good druggists sell Drecto and it is highly recommended in this city by Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store. 3-10-26

RHEUMATISM AND STOMACH EVILS SOON VANISHED

Geo. W. Williams Tells How Quickly Nerv-Worth Did the Work.

Richmond, Ind., users of this famous family tonic are enthusiastic in their reports. One of these, put in the form of a signed endorsement, is as follows: "Nerv-Worth Co.—I have been bothered with rheumatism for some time. Some days hardly able to get about. I tried a number of remedies but it was Nerv-Worth that set me right. I read the statements of others and decided to give it a trial and am happy to say that it drove rheumatism out of my system. It also stopped my stomach trouble."

(Signed) GEO. W. WILLIAMS, 308 N. 4th St., Richmond, Ind.

The demonstrator adds to the above that Mr. Williams got the wonderful results reported by him from not quite one bottle of Nerv-Worth and is loud in praise of the medicine.

T. J. Evans sells Nerv-Worth in Newark. Your dollar back if this family tonic does not benefit you.

DENTIST'S RECIPE FOR PYORRHOEA, BLEEDING GUMS AND LOOSE TEETH

If your teeth are loose or if your gums are receding and are sore, tender or inflamed, if they bleed easily, are spongy, flabby or colorless and discharge pus, go to your druggist and get a ounce jar of Epithol and gently rub a little Epithol with the gums with your finger tips each night and morning.

This is the famous dentist's prescription for such serious gum diseases as Pyorrhoea or Riggs Disease which makes the teeth loose and fall out and usually brings prompt relief from all the dangerous symptoms. Loose teeth should tighten and gums grow sound and healthy in a short time. Epithol is easy and pleasant to use and not expensive as one ounce will last for many weeks. Anyone suffering from Pyorrhoea or Riggs Disease or Sore, Tender Gums should give this remedy a trial. Sold by T. J. Evans and other leading druggists.—Adv.

United States government experts have listed 12 woods, 102 barks, nine leaves, three roots and 17 fruits and seeds that grow in Latin America as yielding tanning materials of industrial value.

LATE FUR FAD FROM ABROAD

This latest French conceit is a three-piece outfit developed in Algerian red duvetyn trimmed with monkey fur. Bodice is of black and gold brocade, with three-quarter sleeves. Coat is fashioned along new redingote lines with choker collar and sleeve ends of monkey fur. Costume topped by hat of malines with burnt peacock feathers.

Low Waist Line Late Fashion.

The low waist line is the most recent impulse of fashion: sometimes a close-fitting corsetage is carried to the hip line; sometimes a straight chemise blouse descends below the normal contour, dipping decidedly lower in the back than in the front; again the close bodice dips far down in front, while coming barely to the hips in the back and at the sides. One may choose whichever is becoming.

The Leading Passion.
To a fisherman there is only one thing in the world—and that is fishing. A popular author tells of two old fishermen meeting in front of a little store one evening. "I have just been home," said one, "and found when I got in the house there were some blood stains on the carpet. I went on in the other room, and there was my wife on the floor. Somebody hit her with a club. It's a terrible thing. Here I come home tired out from fishing all day and—" "How was the fishing?" interjected the other.

PENN STUDENTS BATTLE WITH PHILADELPHIA COPS

Philadelphia, March 26.—Policemen from four station houses raided dormitories of the University of Pennsylvania early today after an outbreak of about 1,000 students, in celebration of the Penn basketball victory over Chicago University.

Shots were fired at the policemen by the students. Twenty two were arrested. They were given the option of spending 10 days in jail or paying fines of $12.50 each. When arraigned, some of the students were clad in pajamas, while others were barefooted. Frederick H. Strayer was the only one with a bandage on his head. He explained he was struck five minutes after arriving of 17 bonds of the Village of Pataskala, bearing date the 12th day of April, 1920.

According to the police, the celebration of victory was the most aggressive on the part of the students they had ever been called to quell. It lasted from 11 p. m. until 4 o'clock this morning, during most of which the students pelted the bluecoats with bricks and stones from alleys and side streets and even threw water bottles and furniture out of windows.

What Germany's Week-End Revolution May Lead To

The outbreaks and disorders in Germany, some for monarchy and some for Bolshevism, bring up sharply the question whether it is to the best interests of the Allies to enforce upon Germany the terms of the Treaty. A Washington dispatch says a fear is felt in official circles that Russian and German Bolshevism may join hands and drag Europe down into red ruin unless aid is extended. "Simple sagacity, apart from any more generous consideration, sanctions a liberal enforcement of the peace terms," avers the Atlanta Journal, which remarks that "it would be a strange sort of equity that would end the play by plunging the rescued heroine back into calamity rather than spare the villain a pang or two of his sentence."

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week, March 27th, presents a study of American editorial opinion upon the enforcement of the Versailles Treaty, and by reading it the average reader will get an unclouded idea of many problems that confront the Allied nations at the present time.

It's Springtime And Everything is New

Woman's mind naturally turns to clothes and she thinks of NEW SUITS—NEW COATS—NEW DRESSES. While all women are interested in the art of dress, there are many who do not think of the pleasure derived from buying early in the season.

EASTER WILL SOON BE HERE

It will be wise for you to select new Easter apparel tomorrow or Monday. If there are any alterations necessary, you will be sure of having them made, before the rush of the last few days before Easter.

Betty Wales Dresses

TOUCHED WITH GOLD

A basque blouse with embroidered georgette collar; a skirt double frilled top and bottom, with gold thread to give touches of richness, faintly describes the beauty of this BETTY WALES frock of navy "puppy skin" taffeta. Many other stunning models await your inspection here.

MIGHTY SLUGGING POWER OF YANKEES DOESN'T ASSURE THEM THE PENNANT

If the mighty hitters of the Yankee team strike their 1919 stride the club will have the most powerful batting array in the big leagues. Ruth, Baker, Pipp, Peck-inpaugh, Pratt and Bodie following each other to the plate ought to chill the average pitcher's heart. But this driving power doesn't make the Yankees the favorite in the A. L. race. The team lacks speed asfield, speed on the bases and a good catching department. The pitching staff is good.
Ruth is counted on, of course to lead the attack. If he fails—
